| What do teachers need to retrieve from students before they start teaching new content ? | What specific ambitious knowledge do teachers need to teach students in this sequence of learning? | What real life examples can be applied to this sequence of learning to development of our students thinking, encouraging them to see the inequalities around them and 'do something about them!' |
| Students own knowledge and understanding of sport <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - students prior sporting experience, through playing or spectating or teaching, may have developed some level of knowledge in aspects of topics covered in this unit. KS4 Curriculum <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - students will also have experience of leadership and will have subconsciously considered the effects of positive and negative transfer, therefore being able to relate it to a real-life situation KS3 Curriculum <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Regularly performed a wide range of sports and will have knowledge of the individual skills needed for those sports. They will be able to identify them and will have understanding on how they are performed. - Students will have been taught using a wide range of methods | Students will be able to define and give specific sporting examples of the following types of transfer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • positive • negative • proactive • retroactive • bilateral Students will then gain a deeper knowledge and understand in the ways a coach or performer is able to optimise the effect of positive transfer. They will then further this understanding with explanation and specific examples in the ways of limiting the effect of negative transfer. | Each week, a key theme will run through all PE lessons linked to real life examples. These will be linked to the particular learning outcome the students are on at the time and will be consistent across the department. The aim will be for students to develop their thinking, recognise the inequalities within sport (linked to the topic) and do something about them. In the 'teaching' lessons, students will be provided with a starter to challenge stereotypes in sport and then an activity linked to heading being covered where they can 'do something about them.' <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1.
